

Solitude IGR

Your approach to fly control is about to change.

A breakthrough technology that safely and effectively prevents flies

*Horse manure is a breeding ground for house and blood-feeding stable flies.
*Manure from one horse can yield up to 27,000 flies each day. *Pesticide sprays and other control methods repel or kill flies only after they've become adults.

 Solitude IGR is a feed-through fly preventive. It can safely and dramatically reduce the number of flies around horse operations because it prevents immature flies from developing into adults.

By using Solitude IGR, horse owners can save money by reducing the need for expensive sprays and other types of costly fly control.
